

Kansas Green Schools & Environmental Education Conference
The Next Generation of Learning: Bringing the new Science Standards to Life through School & Community Partnerships
June 27-28, 2014
Sedgwick County Zoo ~ Wichita, Kansas

Pre-Conference Workshop ~ June 27, 2014
(8:30am-4:30pm)

WILD About the Next Generation of Learning

Jump into a new adventure of applying the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS) to your curriculum using a combination of WILD guides as our compass. Throughout the pre-conference workshop, participants will acquire basic knowledge of how NGSS and Environmental Education tie together and engage children in a deeper understanding of science. Participants will receive Project WILD Aquatic and their choice of either Project WILD or Growing Up WILD. Workshop participants will showcase their new skills and understanding in teams in a fun and informal environment to help kick off the conference.

Opportunity for one graduate credit hour through Baker University will be available for an additional fee of $70.
Participants will need to attend the workshop and the conference to be eligible for the credit (June 27-28, 2014).
